Response to Amendment

1. This Office Action is in response to Applicant's Amendment after Final and Request for Continued Examination (RCE), both dated April 9, 2009, in response to USPTO Final Office Action dated January 12, 2009.

The cancellation of claims 21 and 22, the amendments to claims 1, 5, 7-8, 14-15, 18-20 and the addition of new claims 23-24 are sufficient to place the application in a condition for allowance as set forth hereinbelow.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-20 and 23-24 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Relative to claim 1, the major difference between the teachings to the prior art of record (USP 6,410,866, Klein et al.; USP 6,348,772, May and USP 7,084,854, Moore et al.) and that of the instant invention is that said prior art does not teach a control device with haptic feedback with at least one actuating element, at least one switching device and at least one positioning device, wherein the at least one actuating element can be displaced in at least one degree of freedom and comprises at least one region, wherein the at least one actuating element is adapted to move inward with respect to the at least one switching device when the at least one actuating element is activated, the at least one actuating element includes at least one display device comprising at least one display field corresponding to the at least one region of the at least one actuating element, wherein the at least one switching device is associated with the at least one display field of the at least one display device, wherein at least one function of the at least one actuating element can be visualized with the at least one display device, and the at least one switching device is adapted to provide haptic feedback to the at least one actuating element when the at least one switching device is activated by movement of the at least one actuating element.

Regarding to claim 24, the major difference between the teachings to the said prior art of record. and that of the instant invention is that said prior art does not teach a control device with haptic feedback with at least one actuating element, at least first and second switching devices and at least one positioning device, wherein the at least one actuating element is displaceable in at least one degree of freedom and comprises at least first and second regions, wherein the first region is a different region than the second region, and the at least one actuating element includes at least one display device comprising at least first and second display fields, wherein the first display field corresponds to the first region of the at least one actuating element and is associated with the first switching device, and further wherein the second display field corresponds to the second region of the at least one actuating element and is associated with the second switching device.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Applicant's Remarks

4. The amendments to claims 1, 5, 7-8, 14-15 and 18-20 are sufficient to overcome the rejection to said claims 1, 5, 7-8, 14-15 and 18-20 as stated in the USPTO Office action of January 12, 2009; the related 35 U.S.C. 112 2nd rejection of said claims is herewith withdrawn.

Applicant's remarks regarding the 35 U.S.C. 103 rejection of claims 1-4 and 9-13 are rendered moot in light of the allowance of this instant invention.

Regarding Applicant's remarks relative to the December 22, 2008 IDS; the December 22, 2008 IDS and the April 9, 2009 IDS listings are duplicates of each other, to avoid any confusion copies of both the 12/22/08 IDS and the 4/9/09 IDS (initialed and signed) are included herewith.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
